

PUBLISH WITH PLURAL!

SPECIAL EDUCATION TEXTBOOKS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION & RESOURCES FOR K-12 EDUCATORS

Our publishing program seeks to prepare and support current and future educators so their students meet their full potential.

Plural Publishing, Inc. is an independently owned publishing company based in San Diego, California. Established in 2004, Plural has published over 650+ titles across a range of subjects in allied health, medicine, and education. Building on our many years of experience and our strong reputation of publishing high-quality academic and professional books in communication sciences and disorders, we are developing an exciting new portfolio of books in special education!

Personal Attention & Collaboration

We believe that forming a collaborative relationship with our authors is the key to successful publishing. We are committed to nurturing long-term relationships and supporting our authors throughout their careers. From concept to publication, our goal is to ensure you always feel supported. Your proposal will be thoughtfully reviewed and we will give you considerate and constructive feedback from our experienced editors, sales and marketing team, as well as peer reviewers. We will remain involved throughout the development of your manuscript and collaborate with you on design, production, and marketing ideas. Our independent status relieves us of the time-consuming and hierarchical decision-making of larger organizations. We are committed to responding to you quickly and we always welcome contact with our CEO and senior management team.

Unparalleled Sales & Marketing

Our capability to effectively market our publications both nationally and internationally is unrivaled in the disciplines in which we publish. We are unique because we are only focused on a few disciplines, allowing us to concentrate completely on them! Our marketing team is in daily contact with our target audiences via direct marketing, e-mail campaigns, print and online advertising, public relations/publicity efforts, and our many active social media channels. We also exhibit at many conferences each year. In addition, we have cooperative marketing and sales relationships with online retailers, bookstores, and book wholesalers. For academic textbooks, our experienced college sales managers reach out to professors on a personal level to secure course adoptions.

High-Quality Production

Plural aims to exceed the publishing industry standards for efficiency, quality, and professional handling with each and every book we publish. Our veteran Production team will work closely with you during all phases of production. We are known for our fast turnaround from submission of a manuscript to publication. We work exclusively with exceptional printers, copy editors, typesetters, and indexers.

Plural offers authors the professionalism and expertise they would expect from a larger publishing house coupled with the flexibility, creativity, and personal touch of a smaller organization.

BE A PART OF OUR GROWING FAMILY OF
AUTHORS IN SPECIAL EDUCATION!

The Plural team works closely and constructively through each stage of the publishing process.

LET'S GET STARTED!

Contact us today to discuss your idea for a book related to special education.

Valerie Johns
Executive Editor

valerie@pluralpublishing.com

Elisa Andersen
Editor

elisa@pluralpublishing.com

Plural Publishing, Inc.
5521 Ruffin Road, San Diego, CA 92123

Tel: (858) 492-1555 | www.pluralpublishing.com